matters to be negotiated in our Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA), but rather relate to the administration of various ongoing processes (e.g. filling vacancies, Child Development rescissions). Should you believe a provision of the CBA is not being followed, the correct avenue to pursue is filing a grievance. Furthermore, you appear to be bargaining on behalf of classified employees, which is a direct violation of labor law. As you know, classified employees are represented by other labor unions and we will work with those labor partners to address any of their concerns.
