

Standardized Testing

Standardized testing is a type of test that is used to measure a student's performance on a specific subject. The tests are standardized, meaning that they are the same for all students taking the test. This allows for a fair comparison of student performance across different schools and districts.

- Standardized testing is used to measure a student's performance on a specific subject.
- The tests are standardized, meaning that they are the same for all students taking the test.
- This allows for a fair comparison of student performance across different schools and districts.

Standardized testing is used to measure a student's performance on a specific subject. The tests are standardized, meaning that they are the same for all students taking the test. This allows for a fair comparison of student performance across different schools and districts.

- Standardized testing is used to measure a student's performance on a specific subject.
- The tests are standardized, meaning that they are the same for all students taking the test.
- This allows for a fair comparison of student performance across different schools and districts.

•

•

•

•